

PADDY'S GETS ONBOARD WITH NEW STATION NAMES FOR MONORAIL AND LIGHT RAIL

Sydney, 27 June 2005 –The hardest thing about shopping at Paddy's Markets is lugging home all the fantastic bargains. So Sydney's Paddy's Markets have joined forces with the Monorail and Light Rail with the newly named Paddy's Markets Monorail and Paddy's Markets Light Rail stations located at Paddy's front doors.

The close relationship between these two renowned Sydney icons has been cemented with Sydney's Paddy's Markets now owning the naming rights of the two transport stops in Haymarket.

As well as new signage, the familiar sight of the Paddy's Light Rail vehicle will soon brighten up the trip to the Markets.

For those heading to Sydney's Paddy's Markets via train, the Light Rail departs approximately every 10 minutes from the upper colonnade of Central Station, near the intercity trains, dropping shoppers directly outside the Markets.

The Monorail is also just on Paddy's door step delivering bargain hunters from the City and the northern part of Darling Harbour.

Metro Light Rail runs 24 hours a day to and from Star City Hotel and Casino and from 6am to 11pm from Central to Lilyfield. Tickets from Central to Haymarket are just $2.90.

The Monorail runs from Monday to Thursday 7am to 10pm and Friday and Saturday until 12 midnight. On Sunday the system runs 8am to 10pm. A loop on the Monorail starts at $2.50 per ride with a METROcard.
